Study

I served most of my twenty-four years in the Air Force in Air Education and Training Command, including three years at Air University. I earned the “Master Instructor” certification and learned a lot about teaching, including how difficult it is to “reteach” someone who had learned to do something the wrong way or who had been miseducated. The same is true regarding our Christian education and how we are to do things. Once we “learn” the wrong way or the wrong thing, it’s almost impossible to “reteach” that person. Paul instructed Timothy to study (2 Tim 2:15) and that advice holds true for us. We should study because it aids us in learning the right thing about God’s word and it correctly teaches us what to do. But here is the catch: when we study and learn better we must do better! For example, Matthew records the teachings of Christ as Jesus instructed his disciples (Matt 5 – 7), with Christ repeatedly saying, “You have heard...but I say unto you.” Christ was “reteaching” them by interpreting the law more completely and offers to them a new way of life. Therefore, study, learn correctly, and show yourselves approved disciples of Christ.
