Our Fellow Christians

On Sunday mornings I enjoy watching the song leader trying to get everyone seated. He taps on the microphone and anything else to get people's attention. This is not bad. Our congregation is chatting with each other and greeting one another. At the end of the service it's the same thing only more going on. Some people hurry out the door but others stay and visit. This is VERY encouraging to me, just to watch our members enjoying one another's company. Wednesday evening is a great example. After Mike Gifford's lesson almost everybody wanted to visit. It shows me that we love each other. And we should. We are commanded to love.

Attending Church is a big deal. We should enjoy the anticipation of getting ready, packing up the kids and heading to the house of God. And we need to make sure we bring our bibles. It's hard to study a book you don't have with you. I recommend the King James Version. NKJ works but it's just not the same for me. I've been looking for an American Standard version 1901. I couldn't find a decent copy anywhere. Then a good, faithful friend found not one, but two for me. I almost cried when he gave them to me. What love that shows.

Church is special for several reasons but the one I'm focusing on today is the fellowship part. When I'm at church I'm with the best people I know. The only men I ask for advice are members here. Most of you I only see at church. I visit some but not as much as I should. I promise to do better. When I make announcements I talk about the men that step in and preach and serve the Worship in other ways. But there are others serving too. A ton of work is done behind the scenes by some great Christian friends. I won't say their names because they want to stay anonymous. But thank you for what you do. I've said all that to say this: I'm glad to be part of the Church that meets at Monroe. Thank you for the notes, words of thanks but mostly for your friendship. I hope to see you all at every service. Ed Smithpeters
